Jennie (Thramer) Ellis grew up in Bow-Edison, Washington along with her 4 siblings and a very large extended family.

Jennie has enjoyed a 30 year career in Recruiting, Executive Coaching and Human Resources. The past 12 years of Jennie’s career were as CEO of a prestigious Seattle-based consulting firm called Recruiting Bandwidth. Jennie attended the University of Washington and later Seattle Pacific University. Currently, Jennie is an Investor and Operating Executive at Trilogy Search Partners in Bellevue, Washington and serves as Strategic Advisor to People Tech Partners as well as Catapult BTS.

Jennie has been a supporter of the Arts for over 2 decades and has been involved with MoNA for the past 3+ years. She has a particular passion for artists of all types and admires the freedom, creativity and struggles they often face pursuing their passion.

Quote:

“Being an Artist is a calling that is at first often hard to hear and later often hard to argue. Art speaks to us in a way that words can never quite describe. I seek to support Northwest Art and Artists so MoNA is the perfect place for me”.
